

Before entering into this type of fundraiser we need to inform you about the Brokerage fees. You would be responsible for contacting a broker in your area to handle Customs. Sometimes these fees can be expensive and cut into the profits hoping to be made. Contact your local Brokerage Firm to research the fees that you will be responsible for.

You would also have to send in 50 percent of your cookbook order fee and pay the balance before the books can be shipped (U.S. funds).

After researching these items and you are still interested in this type of fundraiser, call us with your name, address and phone number and we will be happy to send you a cookbook kit. When you send in your order you would need to give us the name, address and phone number of broker.

If the brokerage fees are too expensive, try contacting a printing company in your country to assist you.

Thank you,
